

To Whom It May Concern,

I'm delighted to recommend Charlotte Ostermann as a speaker for your next event. Twice Charlotte has spoken at day-long events I've hosted for a women's retreat I plan annually for a diverse group of Christians from a variety of denominations and backgrounds.

In 18 years of planning retreats, Charlotte is the only speaker I've invited for a second year. She brought sparkle, depth, humor and rich, new understanding to conversations on holy leisure and growing in the interior life. She walked our group through a difficult C.S. Lewis book and helped those who had never opened the book, as well as those who had studied it carefully, come away with practical and soul satisfying new perspectives.

Charlotte is a woman of intensity and intellect and her talks definitely challenge her audiences. She is well worth the challenge, however, because Charlotte brims over with wisdom and faith that rings true, relevant and accessible.
